Findings The Congress finds the following: (1) The National Guard is a military force which consists of members of the Army National Guard and members of the Air National Guard. In addition to these members, members of the National Guard are also regularly called to active duty in the Armed Forces for periods not to exceed 1 year. (2) Federal law authorizes members of the National Guard to be activated for service in any manner authorized by law. This authority includes the use of the National Guard in the event of a natural disaster or other emergency. (3) Federal law also requires a Presidential proclamation for the use of the National Guard in an emergency. (4) The 2001 Base Realignment and Closure Commission report recommended the closure of the National Guard Training Center at Fort Leonard Wood, Missouri. The Army will not close the center, but will relocate approximately 300 soldiers to facilities in Kentucky and Missouri. The closed center will not be used to host National Guard units for the rest of the year, but will be available in the future for temporary housing, training, or mobilization for combat operations. The President does not intend to close any National Guard units for the rest of the year. (5) The Army National Guard is a reserve component of the Armed Forces which consists of members of the Army National Guard and members of the Air National Guard. There are
